“According to the study of healthy volunteers, they find out that obtaining a grape seed extract can significantly higher the level of antioxidants in their bodies. Antioxidants are the material that obliterates the free radicals or dangerous complex in the body that can injure DNA (genetic substance). Free radicals are considered for the contribution of aging even with the growth of several health problems together with carcinomas and heart attacks.

Grape seed extract is considered one of the most powerful antioxidants that can be found on earth. It is containing some unique class of H₂O-soluble bioflavonoids called proanthocyanidins. These components help free radicals in loosing oxygen elements that may harm cells. According to studies, this antioxidant action of bioflavanoids is 20-50 times bigger than Vitamin C and Vitamin E in hunting free radicals.

The free radicals were characterized by deficient atoms or molecules that are natural derivatives of detoxifications and immune system developments. Antioxidants such as grape seed extract were the body's normal defensive method against these free radicals. The antioxidants were molecules that can securely defuse the substance free radicals and secures the promotion of good and healthy cells.

Through protection and enhancement of Vitamin A and Vitamin C, GSE as well relieves in the cutback of wrinkles and eye problems. Lately, research discovers that Grape Seed Extract can aid to arouse healthy hair growth by means of beating the hormone dihydrotestosterone that prevents the hair follicle development cycle.”
